PART "A" - COMPETITION RULES

Art.1 – Race course

1. A racecourse may be either a "track" or "road" course. A road racecourse may be either an "open" or "closed" circuit.
2. Both on the track and on the road, the racecourse is measured 30 centimetres from the inner edge. This line is called "ROPE".
3. In all courses, bends are to be bordered either by a natural edge or removable signals that are highly visible. Such signals are never to be placed on the rope of the track because they may represent a danger for competitors.
4. On road courses with both left and right bends, measuring is to be taken along an imaginary line at 30 centimetres from the extreme ends of the bends themselves.

Art. 2 – Tracks

1. A "track" is defined as a racecourse within an outdoor or indoor facility provided with two straightaways of the same length and with two symmetrical bends having the same diameter or dimensions. In the case of indoors, tracks may have bends using the diamond formation.
2. The total length of a track cannot be less than 75 metres or longer than 400 metres. The minimum width must be at least 6 metres.
3. The track surface may be made of any material, provided it is perfectly smooth and not slippery, so that it does not compromise adhesion. The Referee shall determine these properties.
4. Tracks may be perfectly level or with banking at the bends.
5. Tracks with a banking at the bends are to be not less than 125 metres long and not more than 250 metres. Bankings are to be gradual and uniformly rising from the inside to the outside of the course. Straightaways may have a banking in order to allow the introduction of bend banking. However, straightaways are to be perfectly level longitudinally, to a minimum of 33% of their total length.
6. The finish line must be marked with a white line, 5 centimetres wide.
7. The starting line must not be on a bend, except for the cases when it is impossible to do otherwise.
8. Any external fencing directly bordering the track edge must be protected through suitable materials in order to avoid dangers due to its presence.

Art. 3 – Road course

1. In "open road" competitions, starting and finishing lines do not coincide.
2. A "closed circuit road" race course is a road course consisting of an asymmetrical closed circuit which competitors are to cover one or more times according to the distance of the event.
3. A "closed circuit road" racecourse must not be shorter than 400 metres.
4. The road course cannot be less than 5 metres wide in any point of the course.
5. The road surface must be uniformly and sufficiently smooth without hollows and fissures. The cross-fall of the course shall never exceed 3% of its width.
6. In "open courses" gradients shall never exceed 5%. Exceptions to this rule shall never exceed 25% of the whole course.

7. Starting and finishing lines must be marked with a line 5 centimetres wide. The starting line must not be placed on a bend except when it is impossible to do otherwise. The finishing line shall be placed at not less than 50 metres after the bend leading to the finish line.

Art. 4 - Suitability for practice of a racecourse

1. Any decision regarding the suitability for practice of a racecourse is up to the Referee before the start of the competition itself.
2. When the ground or weather conditions hinder the normal performance of a competition or the continuation of the same, the Referee can interrupt the competition for a given period of time or he can cancel it. In the case of preliminary heats, the competition shall start or continue once the ground condition is suitable for safe skating, provided that it ends within 24 hours of its interruption.
3. When the competition which was interrupted starts again, only the athletes who were competing at the moment of the interruption shall participate again. Competitors who withdrew or were disqualified continue to be excluded.
4. When the track or road is slippery it is up to the Referee to decide about the application of an anti-slippery coat on the whole course or part of it.

Art. 5 - Direction of the race

For track or closed road circuit competitions, competitors are placed so that their left hands are located facing the inside edge of the track or road. The direction of the race shall be counter clockwise.

Art. 6 – Age limit

Inline Speed events may be run in the following age groups with maximum distances as shown:

Mini	5,000m
Pupil	10,000m
Cadet	10,000m
Youth	30,000m
Junior	Unlimited
Senior	Unlimited
Masters	Unlimited

Any skater wishing to exceed the maximum distance for his/her event must obtain written permission from their Parent/Guardian and Club Coach. This consent must be submitted in writing to FISS a minimum of 7 days before the event. The FISS Committee will then make a final decision.

Age groups are determined by the age of the skater at the 31st December of the year of the competition. They will be known as the following groups:

YEAR OF BIRTH (FOR 2019 RACE SEASON)

Mini	2010 or later
Pupil	2007, 2008, 2009
Cadet	2005, 2006
Youth	2003, 2004
Junior	2001 - 2002
Seniors	1985 - 2000
Masters	1984 or before

A minor skater may enter his/her first event provided he/she has attained the age of 6 years on or before the date of the event concerned. Two consecutive age groups can run together in which case the maximum distance for the lower age group will apply. Any skater wishing to move into a higher age group may apply to do so only with consent of their parents. All applications of this nature must be put in writing to the FISS Secretary at least 30 days before the event takes place, and having moved into a higher age group, a skater is no longer eligible to compete in a lower age group.

No racer in a FISS sanctioned open/RAT event may exceed the maximum distance for his or her age group unless they are a FISS member and have previously applied to do so as outlined above. The maximum distance for a RAT racer under 6 years old is 1600m/1 mile.

Art. 7 - Official distances of the course

Both for track and road courses, official distances are the following: 100 - 200 - 300 - 500 –800 – 1,000 –1,500 – 2,000 – 3,000 – 5,000 – 10,000 – 15,000 – 20,000 – 30,000 –50,000 metres. In road races, half marathon (21 km), marathon (42 km) and double Marathon (84 km) are to be included.

- FISS will determine which male/female skater shall be awarded the PAT & LEO EASON TROPHY for the most outstanding effort from their performances in that year's Championships.
- The FISS membership will determine by vote which skater, male or female, shall hold the award as being recognised as speed skater of the Year for the previous season. The winner shall hold the SPEED SKATER OF THE YEAR TROPHY.

Art. 9 – Alternative championship distances

The longer distances will be raced, however, alternative shorter distances may be used as shown in Art. 8 under race distance for championship distances. This will be at the discretion of FISS once final entries have been placed due to the numbers of skaters competing in these events. FISS or the Referee may decrease the distance on the day of contest due to weather conditions or facility constraints.

Art. 10 - Types of competitions

1. Individual Dobbin Sprints
2. Time Trials
3. Team Time Trial
4. Elimination races
5. Mass start races
6. Endurance races
7. Points races
8. Relay races
9. Stage races
10. Pursuit races
11. Elimination + points races
12. Knockouts (one-on-one)
13. Individual Time Trial

a. Individual Dobbin Sprints.

Races against time may take place either on a track or on the road. In such competitions there is a certain number of skaters who cover a circuit while their times are taken by means of a timekeeper. These trials will be skated individually according to the order decided by the draw of competitors by FISS prior to the distribution of the Official Race Programme

b. Individual Time Trial

Races against time may take place either on a track or on the road. In such competitions there is a certain number of skaters who cover a circuit while their times are taken by means of a timekeeper. These trials will be skated individually according to the order by the draw of competitors by FISS prior to the distribution of the official programme

c. Team Time Trials.

Team races against time may take place either on a track or on the road. Teams of three competitors who cover a circuit while their times are taken by means of a timekeeper run these races. Only one team skates and starts together on the track or on the road at one time. The time will be registered when the second skater crosses the finish line.

d. Elimination races

Elimination races may take place on both the track and the road. This competition is carried out through direct elimination of one or more competitors on one or more fixed points of the course. The Referee communicates the rules of elimination before starting the competition. Four skaters will usually be left on to contest the finish. Where there are less than five competitors this shall be reduced to two.

In the case of heats, usually only two heats are skated. Whenever possible, the heats should have the same number of skaters and the heats will cover the official distance of the event. The draw will be done by FISS prior to the event. Entries on the day will be appointed heats by the Referee. The elimination system will be determined by the number of skaters, in the heats as well as the final, keeping in mind the length of the track.

The heats will be planned in such a way that the number of athletes remaining after the last elimination will coincide with the number of skaters that will advance to the final.

One lap before each sprint, at the passing of the finish line by the lead skater, the bell will sound. Whenever possible, no elimination sprint should take place during the first lap, especially on small tracks. Whenever an athlete leaves the competition in which the heat or the final is taking place, be it because of a fall or fatigue, this retirement will count as the corresponding elimination or eliminations. Also, if during an elimination sprint an athlete violates any rule, the Referee may eliminate him in replacement for the skater who crossed the finish line last.

The determination of who is the last athlete is based on the last point of the last skate to cross the finish line.

e. Mass start races.

Such races can be carried out both on the track or on the road. In these races an unlimited number of competitors can participate at the same time. When the number of registered athletes is too high in relation of the size of the track or the road, preliminary heats may take place, followed by a final event. Eliminated athletes can be ranked according to the time registered by each one of them.

Specifically for the 500 metres and the 1000 metres British Championships the following rules apply:

500 Metres

FISS will determine the number of heats (or in the case of entries on the day, the Referee) to take place in the elimination phase, bearing in mind in each of these, that the number of athletes is about the same as the metres of the track's width. FISS will determine as well, how many athletes of each heat classify to the semi-finals and how many to the final. In each round at least two athletes must advance.

The heats will be made up according to the result of 100 or 300 metres individual Dobbin Sprints and the serpentine system.

The following is an example of an approximately six metre track:

1	2	3	4	5
10	9	8	7	6
11	12	13	14	15
20	19	18	17	16
21	22	23	24	25
30	29	28	27	26

The vertical columns represent each of the heats. The numbers correspond to the classification of the 200 or 300 metres individual Time Trials. In this case of 30 competitors, five heats of six skaters each will be skated. The first heat, for example, will be skated by skaters whose numbers are 1,10,11,21, and 30.

Athletes that did not take part in the 200 or 300 metres individual Time Trial will be seeded as number 31 onwards in the order determined by FISS or the Referee if the competitor enters on the day of the event.

A certain number of skaters will classify to the semi-finals, based exclusively in the order in which they finish the elimination heat.

Furthering with our example, a possible decision would be to classify the first three skaters of each heat, for a total of fifteen skaters that would advance to the finals.

These fifteen skaters are then sub-divided into three semi-finals heats. To do this the winners of each elimination heat are divided among the first, second and third heats; that same procedure is followed who classified second and third.

1	1^heat	1	2^heat	1	3^heat
2	1^heat	1	5^heat	1	4^heat
2	2^heat	2	3^heat	2	4^heat
3	2^heat	3	1^heat	2	5^heat
3	3^heat	3	4^heat	3	5^heat

Another possible decision could have been to classify the first two skaters of each elimination heat: two semi-finals heats would take place, each one with five skaters, as follows:

1	1^heat	1	2^heat
1	4^heat	1	3^heat
1	5^heat	2	1^heat
2	3^heat	2	2^heat
2	4^heat	2	5^heat

The winner of the first heat will compete in the first semi-final, the winner of the second heat will compete in the second semi-final and so on, according to the serpentine system.

The final will be contested by the first two skaters of each semi-final heat for a total of six skaters, or in the second case with the first three skaters of each semi-final.

The athletes who do not participate in the final will be classified according to the times obtained in the different phases (heats and semi-finals).

1000 Metres

FISS will determine the number of heats (or in the case of entries on the day, the Referee) to skate in the elimination phase, keeping in mind in each one of them that the number of athletes is about a half metre of the track's width.

FISS will inform also, how many losers times will classify to the semi-finals and final phases, in addition to the winners of each of the heats.

The heats will be made up according to the classification of the 200 or 300 metres individual Dobbin Sprints, following the serpentine system.

Example for a six metres width track, with a group of forty competitors: 4 heats of 10 skaters each, will take place.

8	7	6	5
9	10	11	12
16	15	14	13
17	18	19	20
24	23	22	21
25	26	27	28
32	31	30	29
33	34	35	36
40	39	38	37

In the first heat, the skaters who obtained places 1, 8, 9, 16, 17, 24, 25, 32, 33, 40 will participate. Athletes that did not take part in the 200 or 300 metres individual Time Trial will be seeded as number 41 onwards in the order determined by FISS or the Referee if the competitor enters on the day of the event.

The winner of each one of the elimination heats will classify into the semi-final phase, plus a certain number of losers according to the times registered in those heats.

Furthering with the example, one possible decision would be to classify the four winners, and the twelve best times of all the losers, for the two semi-final heats with eight skaters each.

The semi-final heats will be arranged according to the times registered in the heats.

The winners of each one of four heats will be placed according to serpentine system, the first being the one who registered the best time and so on. Those who classified by losers times (twelve) are then organised again, according to the times registered and the serpentine system.

The final would be contested, by the winner of each heat and the best six loser's times, for a total of eight skaters.

Note: For the 500 metres race and the 1000 metres race, skaters may choose their position on the starting line according to their ranking in the 200 or 300 metres race and according to the number of positions foreseen by the Referee. The starting line will be marked in one metre sections.

For general mass start races of 1000 metres or less, the competitors in each heat will be determined by FISS prior to the event, and in the case of entries on the day, the Referee. All other rules governing these races will be as per the 500 metres and 1000 metres British Championship rules identified above.

Marathons

This race is organised as a final without heats, preferably in open road with the required width and security.

Companion vehicles are not allowed. The only authorised vehicles are one guide car, one car with enough capacity for the withdrawal skaters, in which there must be a Judge, and is located behind the last contestant, one or more ambulances and the number of motor-cycles required by FISS and the Judges for the best control of the race.

The skaters should use preferably the right side of the road. FISS will determine and communicate prior to the event the number of places where drinks will be supplied to the skaters, their location, and the system of distribution.

If the races are organised on closed circuits, the circuit must be at least 1.5 km in length. It is up to the Referee to decide whether a lapped skater can or can't continue the race.

There must be adequate notification, announcing the proximity of the finish line (1km, 500 Mts. and arrival).

e. Endurance races

Such races may take place both on the track and on the road. For these races a time limit is fixed and athletes are ranked according to the order they achieved at the expiration of the time allowed, taking into account the course already covered.

f. Points races

Point's races may take place on both the track and the road. This competition awards a score for each competitor after each fixed point of the course. At the completion of the distance a greater score will be awarded. The competitor totalling the highest number of points wins the race. The Referee will communicate to the athletes the point's rules before the start of the event. Points shall be awarded in all cases as 2 points to the first athlete to cross the line on a points scoring lap and 1 point to the second athlete to cross the line, except the finish which shall be 3-2-1 for the first three skaters.

If a skater does not finish the race, that athlete will lose the points earned for this race. If there is a tie in points among two or more skaters, their final positions will be decided by who was the first of them at the finish line in the last lap. This person shall be awarded the higher placing.

If in the opinion of Referee an athlete commits a fault on any point sprint, the Referee may change the order of the arrival and the assignment of points.

g. Relay races

Such competition can take place both on track and on road. Teams comprised of two or more competitors, but not more than the specified maximum team size, who are to cover a fixed distance and can arrange relays in a given area run these races. According to the size of the track, FISS will determine whether heats will take place, and if so, they will indicate how many teams of each heat will go on to the final. FISS will determine the draw for heats, unless there are entries on the day when this will be done by the Referee.

At the time of the relay, competitors must touch their team-mate. The relay will be completed by touching or pushing from the arriving skater to the starting skater. Pull relays are not permitted.

The relay zone will be assigned on the straightaway that contains the finishing line and a waiting zone is also assigned for the relaying skaters. In the case a relaying athlete enters the relay zone but is not touched by the team mate, the team will be eliminated. The relay must start and be completed inside the relay zone but not continue also after the second line. Where a relaying athlete falls, his team mate must not continue

The last relay is to be made before the last lap, according to the distance of the course, unless changed by the Referee in the interests of safety. This change must be communicated no less than 10 minutes before the competition. Each member of the competing team must skate at least 1 lap. Each team is free to decide after how many laps to relay.

The Referee will advise how the athletes who are relayed should return and the path they must use, done in such a way that it does not interfere with development of the race. If an athlete commits a disqualifying act, the whole team is disqualified.

During relay races only Judges and athletes are allowed to stay on the course.

The competitors of a team should wear identical uniforms. In case the uniforms of two teams are sufficiently similar, the Referee can order the modification of one of them by draw.

h. Stage races

Stage races can take place only on a regular road course. They are a combination of middle distance, long-distance, and against-time races, combined and arranged together according to specific regulations. The final ranking results from the total of the different times or points obtained by each competitor after covering the fixed distances, which are called "stages".

For each stage some bonus, such as point or time allowance, can be granted to the athlete or athletes according to their placements. This bonus must be included in the program.

If several athletes get the same time, the final ranking is to be made according to the best result attained for each stage.

The competition can take place on one day or on several consecutive days according to the number and length of the stages. Some rest days may be included.

i. Pursuit race

This competition is carried out both on track and closed road circuits in the form of preliminary heats by two competitors or by two teams that start from two points equidistant from each other and that covers a fixed distance. When a competitor or team passes the opponent, the preliminary heat is over. Teams shall be composed of three or four athletes. As far as pursuit races by teams are concerned, the penultimate athlete is the one who establishes the ranking or the elimination.

j. Elimination + points races

This competition is carried out through direct elimination of one or more competitors on a fixed point on the course. A single point score will be assigned to the leading competitor on the same lap. At the completion of the last lap a score of 3-2-1 will be awarded to the first three athletes. Points awards and eliminations will take place on the same lap. The skater who is eliminated will lose the points obtained up to that moment.

The Referee will communicate to the athletes the points rules before the start of the event. There will be 5 skaters left to contest the final lap unless the number of entries is less than 10, then there will only be 3 skaters left to contest the final lap. The competitor, still in the competition, totalling the highest number of points, wins the race. Where there is only one entry the skater will complete the distance without being awarded any points during the event.

If there is no elimination because of withdrawal or fall of one or more skaters points continue to be awarded.

k. Knockout (one-on-one)

Knockout competitions are conducted by drawing pairs of competitors who will race each other over a specified distance. The winner of each race will progress into the next round until there are just two skaters left to compete in a final round.

In the event that an odd number of athletes are entered into the competition, at the first round stage some athletes may be given a "bye" into the next round in order that the final round will consist of just two skaters.

General Note

For all competitions (usually age group), with the exception of mini, midi, half or full marathon distances, where there is only one athlete, a series of time standards shall be set to determine if the athlete shall receive an award and what that award should be – i.e. gold, silver, bronze or no award at all. These time standards shall take into account the technicalities of the track or road and shall be determined by an appointed assessor. The assessor shall be appointed by the Referee on the day of competition.

Art. 11 - The start

1. For every competition, only starts without fixed supports on the surface are permitted. The starting signal is to be given either through a gunshot or the blowing of a whistle. The 1 Lap Dobbin Sprint is started with a pre-determined warm up distance.
2. In any competition, in the case of a false start, the Starter shall call back competitors to the starting line. Athletes resume their positions and the start is repeated.
3. If a competitor does not answer the starting Judge after being called twice, at one-minute interval from each other, he is eliminated. In Championship Events the competitors for the Dobbin Sprint will be given a pre-determined running order. If they are not available to start in their allocated position they will be automatically eliminated.

Art. 12 - Starting conditions

1. The starting signal is given when the athletes are standing behind the starting line at 50 centimetres from each other. In mass start events the initial starting positions are determined by the random draw of Membership Cards that must be submitted during registration. In the case of athletes failing to submit a Membership Card these athletes shall be positioned by the Starter after those who have submitted a card have been positioned. In the case of preliminary heats, these will be seeded by FISS and communicated to the athletes by the Referee.
2. For mass starts, the rows of competitors are to be approximately 50 centimetres from each other (except in the case of distances of 1000m or less where the athletes shall be a minimum of 1 metre apart). Athletes are to stand behind the starting line. The Starter gives the start through two signals. He first says "ATTENTION" and then he fires a shot or blows a whistle. The start may only be repeated under the following circumstances and only by the Referee (except where the Starter may declare a false start):
 - a. In races against time, when an athlete falls down because of a mechanical defect or any other reason for which he is not responsible;
 - b. In mass starts, when the falling down of one athlete causes the falling of several others, within 130 metres from the starting line;
 - c. When an athlete starts before the signal is given, the start is cancelled and the athlete involved is penalised; after two violations, he is eliminated (for the first violation a yellow card will be shown and for the second violation and disqualification a red card will be shown).
 - d. When a serious fault occurs at the start of any 500 metre heat, semi-final or final that may influence the outcome of the race in the opinion of the Referee.
3. Time Trial starting conditions
 - a. The skater must have at least one skate on the racing surface within the 2 lines (50cm).
 - b. During the initiation of the start the skate cannot leave the surface. The skate can roll but isn't allowed to cut out of the back line. The oscillation of the skater's body is allowed.
 - c. The Starter authorises the skater to go. The skater has 15 seconds to initiate the competition and if he does not do so, a false start will be declared and the skater will receive (1) warning.
 - d. On the Referee's order the start may be repeated when the skater does not respect (b) of this article and moves his/her skate before the start. A false start will be declared and the skater will receive (1) warning.
 - e. A yellow card will be shown to the skater for (1) warning. A red card will be shown for a second violation and the skater disqualified.

- f. For team time trial the start will be with all the 3 athletes and Starter will say “ATTENTION” and fires the gun.
- g. The photocell for the start of the race must be between 20 cm and 25 cm distance from the surface of the course.

For 500m and 1000m.

- a. A line 50 cm back from the start line will be drawn and an area of around 1 metre for each skater will be marked out.
- b. The skaters are called one by one to the starting line by the starting judge in order of ranking. The skater chooses a vacant place on the starting line, his choice is definitive.
- c. If there are less than 6 skaters the first box near the inner edge is vacant.
- d. When all the skaters have been called, the start judge gives them the authorisation to take their place on the starting line by saying “in position”. The skaters have 5 seconds to take their starting position. When all the skaters are immobile and after a short delay the start judge fires the gun.
- e. If a skater has any problem after the first signal “in position”, he has the right to signal this problem to the starter judge by lifting a hand. This possibility is allowed only one time for each skater. In this case, the starter stops the starting procedure and asks all the skaters to leave the starting zone and then he resumes the starting procedure.
- f. On the Referee’s order the start may be repeated when:
 - (i) if there is an involuntary obstruction between 2 or more skaters which provokes a fall
 - (ii) a fault occurs at the start (heats, semi-finals and finals) that may influence the outcome of the race in the opinion of the starting judge or Chief Referee.

Art. 13 – Neutralisation of the race

When a small part of the race circuit becomes unsuitable as a consequence of a minor external problem, fall of a skater or a small group of skaters, or a minor injury to a skater, the Chief Referee can neutralise the race.

The neutralisation of the race is signalled to the skaters by:

1. The race Referee goes inside the race circuit and indicates by blowing a whistle that the skaters must slow down and keep their position in the pack. It is allowed for the skaters who are some distance from the leaders to join the lead pack.
2. The lapboard is not neutralised but in the case of elimination or points races the elimination and assignment of points are neutralised with the official announcer communicating ‘no elimination or no points’.
3. The judges have to come onto the race circuit and protect the injured skater or signal the unstable area of the circuit.
4. The race restarts when the Chief Referee asks his judges to return to the inside of the race circuit.
5. In the case of neutralisation of the race being due to a fall of skater(s), the fallen skater(s) cannot continue the race when the race restarts.
6. No neutralisation is allowed in the last 1,000 metres of the race.

Art. 15 – Resuming the race

1. When the race is stopped for the reasons given in Art. 14 (Stop the race) it is the responsibility of the Chief Referee to decide, with the help of the organisers and his officials, whether the programme allows for the resumption of the race.
2. If a time trial race with ranking qualification by time is stopped, all the skaters registered or qualified (round or final) shall participate again.
3. If a long distance race is stopped in the first half of the race, and if the restart can be planned before 15 minutes after the stop, the race will restart with the same situation as the moment of the stop.
 - a. only the skaters competing at the moment of the stop shall participate again
 - b. with the number of laps remaining to run
 - c. without any modification of the assignation of the points (points race) or elimination

 - e. the number of points obtained in the first part of the race are conserved by the skaters.

Art. 16 – Restarting the race

3. In the event of heats in a particular Category for certain distances, those that do not qualify for the next round shall be placed in that Category according to their time.
4. Points will only be awarded where all Categories have an equal number of events. Should any particular Categories have an additional event, which results in an unequal number of events per Category being raced, those Categories having the additional event shall not get points awarded for the longer distance. In the event that Categories are grouped for certain events, as long as each Category has the same number of races, each grouping will be taken as one Category.
5. The points awarded will reflect the overall national ranking of skaters who are members of FISS and that have taken part in race events during that year.
6. At the end of each racing season, each skater will be placed in an age group determined by his/her age on 1st January that year. His/her points obtained in the overall national rankings shall be used to determine his/her final position in the age group ranking.

Art. 13 - Lap scorer Judge

1. The lap scorer Judge shall:
 - a. Take note of the number of laps covered
 - b. Signal the laps still to be covered using the counting device at his disposal
 - c. Signal the leading athlete
 - d. Cross a lap, when covered by leading competitors
 - e. Provide that the last lap to be covered is signalled by means of a bell.

3. A lap scorer device, reporting the number of laps, shall be placed at least 3 metres in front of the finish line, where possible on the inner part of the track.

Art. 14 - Manual determination of times

1. If no photo finish, photoelectric cells or video scanner are available, the task of the time-keepers is to determine the time achieved by skaters in each single event and report them directly to the Referee.
2. In order to guarantee the exact determination of times, it is necessary to observe the following:
 - a. Times are to be taken by three officially recognised timekeepers
 - b. Stop-watches are to be of a special type approved for competitions and supplied with a certificate attesting the recent control of the same
 - c. When two out of three stopwatches are in agreement, the time indicated by such two will be considered valid
 - d. When the three stop-watches indicate three different times, the average of the three times is considered valid; if one time is plus or minus 0.5 sec. from the other two, it must be excluded, and the average of the other two times will be considered valid
 - e. When only two stopwatches register the time, the worse time indicated will be considered valid.
3. Time-keepers must stand near the starting line, turning their back to the Starter. In competitions where the starting line is far from the finishing line, timekeepers can be located on the finishing line and start their stopwatches as soon as they see the smoke of the gun or hear the starting-signal.

They shall be responsible for collecting the fees for skaters who enter events on the day at double the advertised entry fee.
3. Spectator Stewards - Clubs are requested, when organising events, to provide adequate stewards for the control of spectators if required

Art. 16 – Lapped competitor

Where a competitor has been or is being lapped, and in the opinion of the Judges, their presence may cause the race to result other than on its merits, the Judges may signal the skater concerned by using a whistle and race number called to give way to the oncoming competitors.

When advised in this way, the skater should allow right of way without hindrance, by going to the outside of the track, to the oncoming skater or skaters, but being still in the race, should stay on the track and otherwise carry on as usual.

Where a skater is giving way after being advised, he/she carries the onus of any collision, providing the overtaking skater or skaters do not act improperly.

Art. 17 – Removal from the race

A skater may be asked to leave the track by the referee or judge using a whistle and race number called, advised why they are being removed. The competitor must leave the race forthwith, making sure that in doing so he/she in no way impedes any other skaters.

A skater will generally be asked to leave a race when he/she is lapped by the first 4 skaters, or it is considered by one or more Judges that his/her presence on the track could cause a hindrance to other competitors, or in some way, cause the race to be won otherwise than on merit at the discretion of the referee.

Art. 18 – Suspension of race conditions

Skaters when advised by the referee or judges using a whistle will indicate a reduction in speed and competitors are not allowed to overtake until the Referee has decided otherwise. The lapboard must remain static until the track is clear and the referee blows the whistle to resume the race.

Art. 19 – Disqualification for serious infringements

1. Where the judges require a disqualification to be put into immediate effect due to a major infringement before the end of a race, the referee will signal off using a whistle and announcing the offending competitor or, in the case of a team, any member of the offending team. The referee will clearly announce the disqualification and any competitor must leave the track immediately but, in doing so, should take care not to impede the remaining competitors.
2. Any competitor or team member being disqualified due to a major infringement will be suspended for four weeks.
3. Disqualifications of this type will only be used for offences creating a danger to participants, officials or persons attending the race day. This can be acts of physical or verbal violence or conduct unbecoming a member of the FISS.

Generally, warnings precede reduction in rank or disqualification (except for very serious infringements). They are added up and when an athlete is responsible for three warnings even though of minor importance, he/she may be disqualified from the competition according to the unquestionable judgement of the Referee.

Any Judge in charge of the progress of the competition can give warnings and shall immediately inform the Referee. The Referee only must communicate the warnings to the athlete. Warnings are not carried forward to the next heat or final.

Art. 22 - Reduction in rank (declassification)

1. During a competition and particularly in the final stages, when a competitor has made himself responsible for a fault towards one or several opponents, he may be reduced in rank according to the opinion of the Referee.

Where times apply, competitors declassified shall have a five (5) second penalty applied to his/her time, per place declassified. The time skated plus any time penalty shall become his/her official time, which shall determine whether or not he/she competes in the next round in accordance with the conditions of contest

Art. 23 – Disqualification and suspension

1. Disqualification measures may be applied:

 - d. FISS has the ultimate power to adopt disqualification measures, even for an indefinite period of time (suspension);
 - e. When a competitor has used doping substances or has not presented himself/herself at the doping-control, it will be up to FISS to establish the sanction to be inflicted.
2. Measures indicated in a. and b. points above are applied by the Referee and the sanction shall be made public. In point c. it is the responsibility of the Referee to communicate to FISS about this serious fault.
3. All suspensions shall be communicated to the person concerned and the Secretary of the Club to which they belong. CERS and FIRS shall only be made aware if the decision to suspend is upheld after any appeal.

Pending the appeal hearing, the member may continue to be active in FISS activities unless the suspension is related to allegations recognised in the FISS Child Protection Procedures and Practices Handbook.

Art. 25 - Disciplinary measures of the Officials

Any member of the Officials who is affected before, during or after a competition by any offence or violence of any kind on the part of a competitor or another person, may immediately inform the Referee who shall adopt the necessary measures and shall forward a specific report to FISS.

Art. 26 - Sanctions taken in relation to Members or Third Parties

FISS Members or recognised Third Parties, whether members of FISS or not, but are recognised as having a direct involvement with a Club or competitor must behave according to the principles of sport, honesty and fair play.
